GULF-SOUTH
SUMMIT

SERVICE LEARNING AND CIVIC ENGAGEMENT THROUGH HIGHER EDUCATION

HENRY CUNNINGHAM, EMILY LOCKE, TANVI PADALKER & DIANA QUITO | UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA

INNOVATIVE APPROACHES TO UTILIZING THE CARNEGIE COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT CLASSIFICATION DATASET

ABSTRACT:

Since 2006, the Carnegie Foundation's Elective Classification for Community Engagement has helped U.S. colleges signal commitment to community engagement. Despite its long history, data from institutional applications are underutilized. In this interactive workshop session, participants will be introduced to innovative approaches to analyzing and utilizing this rich dataset.

THEMATIC FOCUS: LISTENING CLOSELY | SURPRISING COLLABORATIONS

BIO(S):

HENRY CUNNINGHAM

Dr. Henry R. Cunningham is Director of Community Engagement at the University of Louisville where he co-founded and co-directed the University's International Service Learning Program. He has extensive background in international and community development, having conducted developmental work in several countries. He was assigned to the United Nations where he worked with international leaders focusing on sustainable development in developing countries. Dr. Cunningham currently teaches a community-based learning course, enabling students to engage with the immigrant community. He has published articles and book chapters on community engagement. He co-edited a book on partnership and collaboration which was published in 2020.

Nashville, TN | March 26-28, 2025

EMILY LOCKE

PhD Student at the University of Alabama

TANVI PADALKER

MA Student at the University of Alabama

DIANA QUITO

PhD Student at the University of Alabama